

Teaching Faculty Candidate

Classroom Demonstration Presentations & Open Meeting with Students

Dr. Bushra Anjum

Foundation for Advancement of Science and Technology - National University of Computer & Emerging Sciences

Thursday, April 17th 2014

11:00-12:00pm: Classroom Demonstration Presentation on Recursion [Toomey 256]

3:30-4:30pm: Classroom Demonstration Presentation on an Elective Topic [Toomey 199]

Friday, April 18th 2014

3:00-4:00pm: Open Meeting with Students [CS 327]

Short Bio - Dr. Bushra Anjum, a Fulbright scholar, completed her PhD from the Computer Science Department at North Carolina State University (NCSU), Raleigh, USA in 2012, advised by Alumni Distinguished Graduate Professor and IEEE Fellow Dr. Harry Perros. Alongside, she also completed the one year Certificate of Accomplishment in Teaching curriculum offered by Preparing Future Leaders, Graduate School, NCSU. She has been teaching university students since last five years, full-time since last two. She is also an active member of various international diversity outreach and inclusion initiatives like ELA, XSEDE, ACM MentorNet, Stanford She++. Dr. Anjum has authored scholarly papers in the areas of performance modeling, computer networks, and quality of service provision.